

Menu entry Fix Beam

Advanced option. If a beam trace with command Beam has been created, all input traces for the beam are deleted and the beam trace is renamed to b@<refstation>, where <refstation> is the name of the reference station. This command is applied when a beam trace as representative for a whole array is used in a following analysis with other stations.

back to documentation index